

agreed that the new jurisdiction should bear a part of the debt of the old jurisdiction. The status of the case is explained in the following extract from the grand master workman's annual report:

"Under the terms of settlement with Pennsylvania, West Virginia was to pay $1,400 in full as her portion of all claims against the Pennsylvania jurisdiction up to December 1, 1894, and was to pay her proportion of the debt accruing during the month of December, 1894. Under date of February 4th I received a statement from the grand master workman of Pennsylvania showing an indebtedness of West Virginia to Pennsylvania of $6,000.90. I immediately answered this, denying any such liability and insisted on a credit of $4,000 (that being the amount paid on assessments numbers 1 and 2 to Pennsylvania). Under date of February 5th I received a reply from grand master workman Anderson, who insisted that his statement was correct and asked for a conference, suggesting that his finance committee would meet in Pittsburgh on the following Monday, and asked us to meet with them. I immediately wrote Grand Master Workman Anderson that if he would adjourn the committee until Tuesday we would meet with them and adjust their claim, saying that in case I received no reply I would infer that the change in the date had been made and would be there. No reply being received, in company with Brother P. G. M. Gruse, the chairman of the finance committee of West Virginia, I went to Pittsburgh, only to be informed that the Pennsylvania committee on finances had met on the preceding Friday, and our trip was fruitless so far as adjusting our differences with Pennsylvania. However, a month later the grand master workman informed me that the credit of $4,000 demanded by West Virginia had been allowed and asked for an immediate settlement of the balance. This was impossible, as the fund derived from the first special assessment was practically exhausted in paying the bills of the order (proceeding the institution of the grand lodge office, in paying mileage and per diem of the representatives and the various printing and fixtures for the grand lodge office, while the extraordinary number of death claims on hand rendered it impracticable to levy another special assessment to close the account. Later on, however, from the amount realized from special assessment No. 2, $1,200 was paid on account to the grand lodge of Pennsylvania, leaving a balance still due of $1,004. A greater amount than this is claimed, but a correct adjustment of the account will show West Virginia's figures to be correct. This amount is still due Pennsylvania, as the extraordinary number of deaths that accumulated in the hands of the financial committee made it impossible to levy another special assessment to pay this claim. Since the last meeting of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania, the grand master workman has written me asking for the prompt payment of this balance, and this I feel should now be done without further delay, and I suggest that this grand lodge order a special assessment on the first day of February of one dollar, and that out of the amount realized Pennsylvania be paid, longer would be very unjust to the jurisdiction that has been so lenient to us in this matter."

At the afternoon session of the grand lodge it was addressed by Supreme Recorder M. W. Sackett, of Meadville, Pa. He spoke of the work of the order in general, and complimented the West Virginia jurisdiction upon its very prosperous condition. He was here last year when the separate jurisdiction was established and then remarked on the effluence of the order. Much of this effluence is now gone, but in its place he finds a more satisfactory business-like enthusiasm that will accomplish more for the good of the order. He predicted for the West Virginia jurisdiction a great and prosperous future.

The portion of Grand Master Workman McCluskey's report dealing with the loss in membership during the year, is of interest and is reprinted below:

Loss in Membership.
"On January 1st, 1895, at the time of our institution, we numbered 2,017 members. On December 31st, 1895, we numbered but 1,969 members—a net loss of 48 members during the term."

"On January 1st, 1894, we numbered about 1,250 members in West Virginia. That these members have been secured by the combined efforts of individual members and organizers, and that every applicant secured thoroughly understood the principles of the A. O. U. W., its highest cost in any one year, and entered with a thorough knowledge of the organization, there can be no doubt. 'Fraternity' has been the watchword all along the line, and fraternity admitted of no misrepresentation. And while it is absolutely true that all members who were admitted prior to January 1st, 1894, had been invited to join a 'Fraternal Brotherhood,' it is equally true that after the membership started on the road to a separate jurisdiction, that gradually the word 'fraternity' was lost sight of and the cold business proposition that under a separate jurisdiction the cost would be much less was brought to the front, and the membership and organizers, in our zeal to gain the required two thousand members, lost sight of the fraternal side of the order—the power that had steadily built up the membership and made them strong in the lodge and in the world. We pressed to join and insure their lives, with the word spread broadcast that from $10 to $15 per year would cover the insurance of $2,000 in the A. O. U. W."

"As the months of 1894 went by and but slight gains in the membership were made, still greater exertion was made to secure the coveted 2,000, and during the last few months, under a whirl of excitement, men were almost 'pushed' into the organization, many with but little if any knowledge of its grand principles, but all with a belief that under a separate jurisdiction the A. O. U. W. would cost but a trifle of what it had formerly cost under the Pennsylvania jurisdiction."

"The membership themselves became imbued with this idea, and the work went swimmingly along on these lines. The number was secured. The interest and enthusiasm continued for a month or two after the institution of the grand lodge, until 2,120 was our number. A reaction came. The cost was greater than we had anticipated. Death entered when our grand lodge was but a few hours old, and with increasing severity stalked among us. With violent hand the young were taken, until a record of deaths from violent causes made that has probably never been equalled in the history of this or any other organization in existence. The interest in the lodge room waned, the enthusiasm died out, and the order came to a standstill. The death rate increased until three assessments were necessary to meet our payments. Many of our new members dropped from our ranks. The assessments were again necessary to pay our death losses, and again a number were dropped by the way-side, and in two months the order lost 124 members, as but little if any recruiting was being done to keep up our membership. The assessments made necessary by our deaths rendered it impracticable to call another assessment to carry on the work of organizing new lodges. When we review all these facts, and in addition add that we started our grand lodge without a dollar (the per capita tax on January 1st having gone to Pennsylvania), a debt of over $400 that had been advanced by the finance committee appointed by the convention of lodges, with an entire outfit to provide to put our grand lodge in working order, and the cost of our grand lodge session added to the whole, it is not surprising that, under all these circumstances, we show a loss in membership for the year."

A. O. U. W. BANQUET

Last Evening was Tendered to the Visiting Grand Lodge Delegates.

The banquet tendered last evening to the visiting delegates to the meeting of the West Virginia Grand Lodge, A. O. U. W., was a brilliant occasion. About one hundred gathered about the festive board where Mr. Charles Burdett Hart presided as toastmaster.

The first speaker was Mr. M. W. Sackett, of Meadville, Pa., supreme recorder of the order. His topic was "The Supreme Lodge" but, like some who spoke later, he did not confine himself to limits the topic would imply. Down here in West Virginia, remarked Mr. Sackett, there is such an amount of good fellowship that it turns a fellow from Pennsylvania upside down. As to A. O. U. W. work, he wished the West Virginians God-speed in their glorious work.

Mr. Hart said the brother he would introduce is one who is most genial about election time—George Washington Atkinson. It would be well to treat the brother well as somebody present might want a pardon one of these days. Mr. Atkinson spoke of the "Beneficial Features" of the order. He outlined social life progress in an eloquent manner. The A. O. U. W., he said, is doing as much for the betterment of the condition of mankind as any organization to-day on God's footstool. He gave a very interesting collection of figures showing that the claim that the order has the "dry rot" is without foundation. Referring to what has been done in West Virginia since the state has had a separate jurisdiction, he said twenty-one deaths have occurred and $46,000 in benefits paid out. The social and intellectual features were also treated eloquently. The supreme lesson of the hour is to work for the future. Build for the great hereafter. If we have builded well our work will remain immutable and as eternal as God.

Mr. Charles Brilles spoke of "Kickers" and did it exceedingly well. He divided the kickers into many classes and sub-classes, and not one, excepting the occasional kicker who has a reason to kick, escaped a "hot roast." In closing he said, "Be sure your principle is right, then kick with all your might."

In introducing Mr. John H. Holt, of Grafton, the toastmaster said that everybody knows there are three great orators in West Virginia; Mr. Atkinson is one and the other two are John H. Holt. Mr. Holt spoke of the "Grand Lodge" in the new order in West Virginia. Mr. Holt said, the United Workmen are playing a prominent part, and his many well rounded sentences were received with great applause.

Mr. Samuel A. Kepner, of the Shield and Anchor, spoke of "The Fraternal Press." The subject was not one that would allow flights of oratory, but Mr. Kepner brought in several good stories that more than made up for the deficiency.

Mr. Frank Stanton had a subject but if he knew it he certainly did not refer to it in the course of his very entertaining and lively talk of five minutes. Probably the finest oratorical effort of the evening was Mr. Frank W. Nesbitt's address on "The Subordinate Lodge." He compared the entire Workmen organization to a pyramid. The apex is the supreme lodge, high but narrow; at the mid-height is found the grand lodge, not so narrow. At the outspreading base is found the subordinate lodge, where we see the true philanthropy that is the main beauty of the order. He received generous applause when he closed with an eloquent peroration.

Mr. Richard Robertson was introduced as "The Official Humorist." He entertained the assemblage very agreeably with several stories such as only a veteran of '61-'65 has at command.

Mr. Frank Gruse spoke as the representative of the grand lodge finance committee and did what some would be unable to do—he made a financial talk of great interest.

Mr. F. H. Lange spoke in glowing terms of the order in general and came up fully to the high standard set by the other speakers.

Dr. G. A. Aschman spoke of the "Star Spangled Banner" eloquently and had the "house" with him from start to finish. In fact, all the allusions to country and flag, and they were many, were received with enthusiasm.

It was 2 o'clock when the gathering, which was merry and spirited throughout, adjourned. The home members of the order, who tendered the banquet to the visiting representatives, may feel justly proud of last night's brilliant success.

Sebastopol was Not Impregnable.
For it was taken by assault, but a physique built up, a constitution fortified by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, may bid defiance to the assaults of malarious disease even in localities where it is most prevalent and malignant. Emigrants to the arid-breeding sections of the West should bear this in mind, and start with a supply. The Bitters promptly subdues dysentery, rheumatism, and kidney complaints, nervousness, constipation and biliousness.

Marvelous Results.
From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundersen, of Dimondale, Mich.: "I have been permitted to make this extract: 'I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction, Michigan, she was brought down with Pneumonia, succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory. It resulted in three bottles free at Logan Drug Co.'s Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00."

Electric Bitters.
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alternative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fever. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, biliousness, yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $1.00 per bottle at Logan Drug Co.'s Drug Store.

D. R. BROOKS DEAD.

Another Prominent Citizen Passed Away Yesterday.

FORMER LEADING CONTRACTOR

And Interested in Several Industrial Concerns—His Death the Result of Consumption—He Had Been Laid Up for Several Months Past, and Had Been Ailing a Great Deal Longer—Death of a Popular Official Tuesday Night.

Yesterday David R. Brooks died at his residence on Fifteenth street, after a tedious illness of consumption. He had been sick for considerably over a year, and had not been able to be out of the house for months past. Mr. Brooks had several attacks of hemorrhages before he gave up and submitted to the inevitable. He lately recognized that his lease of life was short, and was resigned.

He was about forty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and one son. Mrs. Brooks is a daughter of Joshua Bodley. The deceased was a member of Nelson lodge, A. F. and A. M., of the Union chapter of that order, and of Wheeling commandery, Knights Templar. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from his late residence, and the Masonic bodies will probably have charge. He was a member of Fourth street M. E. church.

He was born in Wheeling, and was a son of H. T. Brooks, who in his day was a leading confectioner and candy manufacturer in this city. The son was brought up in Wheeling, and in 1888 went to work for the Baltimore & Ohio company in the machine shop here, being transferred from time to time until he finally held a responsible position at South Chicago. He left there, however, about 1876, and came back to Wheeling, becoming a member of the firm of Kasey & Brooks, in the coal business. The business of the firm was extended, largely through Mr. Brooks' activity and enterprise, and in 1887 the Wheeling Mining and Manufacturing Company was formed. This company was engaged in mining coal, making brick and contracting for building and other work, and Mr. Brooks was the most active member of the concern. He has not been actively employed, however, for a year or two past, as the state of his health did not permit of his transacting business to any great extent.

Mr. Brooks was a genial, whole-souled man, enterprising, a good wide-awake citizen. He was an enthusiastic Democrat with the exception of one campaign, when he was heartily in favor of Blaine's election on the Protection platform. His death is generally and sincerely regretted among those who knew him.

Harry Goodwin's Death.
Harry Goodwin, a well known and popular young man, a deputy sheriff of the present administration, died on Tuesday night last, aged thirty-three. He was ill some time ago, with a form of brain trouble which seems to have resulted in partial paralysis, but he was regarded as on the way to recovery when his illness again took a serious form a few days ago. He was a son of Ben Goodwin, the well known pilot on the river. The funeral will occur Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence on the island, the interment being at Mt. Wood cemetery. Ohio Valley lodge K. of P., of which he was a member, will attend in a body.

THE sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and stays if he doesn't. There are thousands of ways of getting sick. There is only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion in order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. A large part of all the diseases that afflict mankind are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating these impurities. That most dreadful of all diseases, consumption, is a disease of the blood. The disease shows in the lungs because of some inherited or acquired weakness there. If the blood were always pure and without germs, the disease would never develop and in time weakness itself would be overcome. Germs and impurities in the blood float along through the body until they find a weak spot for lodgment. They stick there and develop and people call the disease by the name of the organ afflicted. As a matter of fact, the disease is always a disease of the blood, and if the blood be purified, the disease will be cured. That is a perfectly natural, rational conclusion, endorsed both by common sense and the highest medical authority. It is in accordance with these facts that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites the copious secretion of digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years.

If you care to know more about it, and more about your own body, send at once-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and you will receive absolutely free a copy of the "Golden Medical Discovery" book, Common Sense Medical Adviser.
